Brandon Michael Jones

About

Brandon Michael Jones is a Chicago native and Michael Jackson tribute artist with more than 20 years of performance experience. His work centers on portraying Michael Jackson with close attention to the look, style, and feel of the performance.

He began performing at a young age at festivals and events, building his act around resemblance, accuracy, and a clear admiration for Michael Jackson's music and stage presence. In 2010, promoters and agents began booking him for international appearances.

That same year, Brandon was invited to perform at Michael Jackson's memorial in Gary, Indiana for Katherine and Joseph Jackson and Michael's children. In 2012, he was recruited to star in the touring production Moonwalker, The Reflections of Michael and a Pair of Kings.

In 2013, he joined Legends in Concert in Las Vegas and Rock-A-Hula in Hawaii. He later settled in Myrtle Beach with Legends in Concert.

Brandon continues to perform for audiences of all ages, bringing long experience and a dedicated Michael Jackson tribute format to festivals, events, and theater-based shows.
