HEARING DAMAGE

About

Hearing Damage is a Radiohead tribute act built by seasoned musicians with a clear focus on the details of the live Radiohead sound. Their approach centers on the nuances of a Radiohead concert experience, from radio-quality renditions to the distinct sound palettes associated with the band's music.

The set draws from key Radiohead songs including Creep, Fake Plastic Trees, Just, High And Dry, and Karma Police. The show also reflects material connected to albums such as Ok Computer, Kid A, and In Rainbows.

For buyers, the appeal is straightforward: a tribute show aimed at fans who want to hear these songs performed with attention to sound, feel, and musicality. The live response described in the source material is the shared moment of fans singing along to favorite songs together at a Hearing Damage tribute show.

Radiohead is presented here as the British band whose 90s run brought songs like Creep, Fake Plastic Trees, Just, High And Dry, and Karma Police to wide recognition, with albums including Ok Computer, Kid A, and In Rainbows cited in the source material as major works. Hearing Damage's show is built around bringing that catalog and concert feel to the stage.
