About

Ryan Baker is a Las Vegas-based specialty act with roots in classic vocal pop and Rat Pack-era staging. Originally from Long Island, he has been based in Las Vegas since 2003 and started his professional career as a Sinatra tribute artist.

He co-created and starred in Shades of Sinatra, a production that twice opened for Don Rickles. From there, he moved into featured roles in Rat Pack-style shows including the touring Drinkin', Singin', Swingin' and the long-running Las Vegas production The Rat Pack Is Back.

In 2014, Ryan recorded and co-produced his debut album, Timeless Again. He now stars in and produces Big Band Crooners, a theatrical concert built around the music of Sinatra, Bobby Darin, Michael Bublé, and other vocal greats, backed by a live 17-piece orchestra.

For buyers looking at vintage pop, crooner material, and a larger-format theatrical presentation, his background is clearly tied to that lane.
