The Hits: American Songbook

Tribute to the Greatest Songs of All Time

About

The HITS: American Songbook is a live cover production built around songs that helped shape American popular music. The show connects American pop to its roots in Blues, Gospel, and R&B, with fresh arrangements, cinematic visuals, aerialists, and specialty performers supporting the band on stage.

The repertoire draws from the artists and styles named in the current show materials, including Queen, Journey, Shania Twain, Beyoncé, Bruno Mars, Garth Brooks, Whitney Houston, Michael Jackson, Madonna, Billy Joel, Earth, Wind & Fire, Stevie Wonder, and Lady Gaga. The overall feel is broad, familiar, and designed for audiences who respond to recognizable songs across eras.

The production uses live band performance, strong vocals, multimedia elements, and staged specialty acts to give the set a bigger visual footprint than a standard cover band format. The result is a show with clear sing-along and in-seat dance appeal, while keeping the focus on well-known songs and a patriotic American Songbook theme.

For buyers comparing options quickly, this is a cover act with a defined concept, cross-era song recognition, and built-in visual elements. The HITS also exists as a separate sister show focused on pop, rock, country, R&B, and dance songs from radio, television, and film, while The HITS: American Songbook centers on music tied to American culture and pride.
